

As a member of the State Legislature he had given his sanction and vote for resolves, passed, protesting against the repeal of the Missouri Compromise. In the State Convention of the Democracy, held in 1854 and 1855, he aided most effectually in beating back the horde of the federal office holders who besetted them to procure an endorsement of the outrage. Standing by the doctrine of the party as expressed in its resolves he has held on to the end. In 1855, he was nominated without his knowledge, and at
